

Jack Abernathy
MART391
Milestone 1

For this project, I wanted to try to design my project around World of Warcraft Classic that just recently. I would like to have the users supply their realms, faction, classes, professions, levels, time played, and gold. Each user could provide information on various characters rather than various games and whether their focus will be PvE or PvP.

Because it is my understanding that we plan on launching this to the public online, I have been able to get into a few guilds that are pretty active with several hundred players. If the project is doable, I plan on reaching out to my guilds and discord groups to see if they would be willing to supply their information. If not, I'll rethink my project idea.